

Environmental Policy

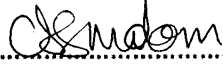

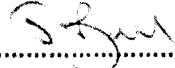

Wild Business Ltd exists to enable other businesses to benefit from and create biodiverse wild spaces, such that both businesses and wildernesses are connected across landscapes to promote broad-scale ecosystem function. We are committed to providing this service in a way that optimizes our own ecological and environmental impacts.

Accordingly, we will operate in compliance with all relevant environmental legislation, endeavour to demonstrate best practice on environmental issues, and strive to continually improve our performance in this area.

We will:

- Ensure sound science and demonstrably up-to-date expertise lie behind all advice we give on ecological and environmental issues;
- Use shared office spaces, with their own commitment to environmental good practice, out of which to base our activities;
- Ensure employees are informed about contemporary environmental issues, and given awareness training where necessary;
- Communicate our environmental principles to clients, and the public where relevant, and encourage them to adopt these principles;
- Within reason, travel using the most carbon efficient form of transport possible;
- Purchase the most environmentally sound versions of products and services needed for the business;
- Wherever possible prevent the release of pollution as a result of our business activities.

This policy is annually reviewed, updated and signed off by the directors of Wild Business:
